

Love Has Come, Inc completed its fourth fiscal year on December 31st, 2014. A great thanks to our loyal supporters for your generosity the past several years. This coming April marks LHC's fourth birthday. We are amazed at what's transpired during that time.

Lots of things happened in 2014 thanks to your support. We provided $23,000 through the form of grants to adoptive families who needed a financial boost to realize their adoption dreams. If you could hear the stories it'd move you to tears. When we need motivation to keep going all we need to do is read the notes we get from the grant recipients. Wow.

And we formed a partnership with Loving Shepherd Ministries (www.loving-shepherd.org) out of Bluffton, Indiana as it relates to our work in Haiti. This partnership will also boost the support we are able to offer adoptive families as they navigate the tumultuous adoption waters. LSM is a like-minded organization we feel is a God-send. We will be developing business in Haiti with the hope of creating local Haitian revenue that will support the incredible child and family development LSM is doing in Les Cayes, Haiti. Check out their website - it's truly inspiring. We hope to have our first prototype business launched by August of this year.

And BIG NEWS!!! Welcome Heather Sundheim! She's been a founding board member but is now LHC's first employee. Due to our growth the administrative and outreach load has become intense. Heather's skills and passion play perfectly toward this role and we are so pumped to have her taking LHC's services and support to new levels.

There are many, many more great things but this note is meant to be short and high level. For details find our web and Facebook pages. It all happens with the help of many, many people. LHC has enjoyed many high quality board members over the years. Two of our most recent are Acey Koshatka and Pete Joy who both bring a ton to the cause. And we'd like to give a massive shout out to Mark Bradford who recently completed his three year term. Mark helped launch LHC, he brought his critical and strategic thinking skills to the discussion, and he played a central role in launching our Haiti initiative. Though his board term is up, we're grateful to keep him as part of our Haiti business development team.

Please pray for LHC in 2015. We have thought thoroughly and wisely at every chance but changing the world takes radical faith. And that's where we try to live - at the intersection of wisdom, strategy, and radical faith. We trust hiring our first employee is both strategic and wise - yet it takes faith since it is an expense. And we had to say no to about 28 grant applicants in 2014 due to resource limitations; we hope for more "yesses" in 2015. We are anxious to dedicate funds toward our business start-up costs in Haiti as well, but we know more funding will be required to accomplish both of these goals.

Please take a moment to look at our financials. We are proud to be in good standing with the ECFA and hold ourselves to the most intense financial accountability procedures. 2015 is a year for growth yet growth requires initial investment. This may tip our expense ratio more than we'd like in 2015. To curb this and keep the vast majority of funds raised going directly to the cause, we'd like to increase revenue. Every organization or business moving from infancy to adolescence experiences this. And it can be nerve-wracking. So, thanks for your prayers.

May God bless the orphaned and vulnerable. May God bless LHC with wisdom and endurance. And may God continue to deliver on the needs of everyone standing in the gap for those who have no voice. Let's rock it in 2015.

From your LHC team – thank you.
